NOT JUST A WEDDING, A GRAND SPECTACLE!

Debabrata Kar Biswas recounts his experience after attending a friend's wedding.

Weddings, to me, have always felt like more than rituals or receptions — they're living stories. Stories of love, family, tradition, and togetherness, told through music, laughter, colour, and food. What often goes unnoticed, though, is the immense effort behind that seamless beauty. Every flower placed just right, every guest looked after, every emotion anticipated — it takes more than good planning. It takes heart.

I was reminded of this at my best friend's wedding — a grand destination celebration in Goa that felt like a dream, but the story didn't begin there.

A few weeks earlier, I had attended their engagement in Kolkata. Held at a heritage venue, it was a perfect blend of old-world Bengali charm and warmth — soft lighting, fragrant flowers, the presence of family elders, & that distinct intimacy of a Bengali celebration. The food was outstanding, the atmosphere joyful yet relaxed, and everything seemed effortless. I had assumed it was just a well-organized family event.

So when I reached the Goa wedding and witnessed the same care, detail, and emotional richness but on a much larger scale with 500+ guests.

I was amazed! How did they manage something so elaborate, yet so personal? Especially with elderly parents and a hectic work life?

I finally asked him, half-joking, "What's the secret?" He grinned and said, "Try the fish fry first." Once I did crisp, golden, and full of flavour. He leaned in and whispered, "ABP Onestop Weddings. They did everything. Engagement in Kolkata, wedding in Goa — from start to finish." That's when it all clicked.

ABP Onestop Weddings had orchestrated both events — two celebrations that looked completely different, yet felt equally heartfelt. Rooted in the legacy of Anandabazar Patrika, a name trusted by Bengalis for over a century, ABP Onestop Weddings brings that same trust, excellence, and cultural sensitivity to every celebration. Whether in the heart of Kolkata or on a distant beach in Goa, they don't just plan weddings — they create experiences that are personal, elegant, and deeply Bengali.

From the Publisher's Desk

Dear Esteemed Reader,

Welcome to the July - December 2025 edition of Kolkata City Pathfinder - your pocket-friendly guide to exploring one of India's most charming cities.

In this issue, we're putting the spotlight on something close to every heart - Shopping and Wedding in Kolkata! From bridal sarees and lehengas to dazzling jewellery, budget-friendly decor tips and trusted vendors. We bring you a curated guide for everything you need to plan or shop for a wedding in the City of Joy. Whether you're a bride-to-be, a family member, or simply attending as a guest, this edition will help you navigate the vibrant wedding scene of Kolkata with ease.

Of course, you'll still find all the regular features you've come to expect - where to go, what to eat, and tips on enjoying the city to the fullest.

We all use the internet for quick answers, but not everything online is safe or true. Many websites look flashy but may mislead you with wrong or fake information. That's where our printed guide stands strong - it's trustworthy, scam-free and carefully curated. And for businesses, print still remains one of the most affordable and effective ways to reach real people.

We're happy to share that our guidebook is now available in many bookstores, hotels and tourist spots across the city. Some hotels are even keeping a copy in their rooms for guests -because they know how handy it is!

As the festive and wedding season approaches, we hope this issue helps you discover the joy of Shopping and Wedding Planning in Kolkata - its colours, sounds, surprises, and stories.

A big thanks to our hardworking team, and to you, our readers, for your continued support.

Greetings for the approaching festive season!

Discover Kolkata : The City of Joy

Indian Coffee House (College Street)

Kolkata, formerly known as Calcutta, is the vibrant capital of West Bengal and is often celebrated as India's cultural heart. Located on the eastern banks of the Hooghly River, the city has grown into one of the largest and most dynamic metropolitan areas in the country. It is home to India's oldest operational port, a testament to its historical significance as a major centre for trade and the nation's only major riverine port.

The name Kolkata carries intriguing stories of its origin. One popular belief links it to Kalikata, derived from the Goddess Kali, symbolising strength and power, while another connects it to Kalikshetra, meaning "the land of Kali." Other interpretations suggest it comes from the presence of lime kilns in the region, used for burning shell lime, reflecting its industrial roots.

Kolkata's history can be traced back to the 17th century when three villages - Gobindapur, Sutanuti, and Kalikata - laid the foundation for what would become one of India's most iconic cities. It rose to prominence under British rule, serving as the capital of British India until 1911, when the administration moved to Delhi. In 2001, the city officially reclaimed its indigenous identity by adopting the name Kolkata.

Today, Kolkata is more than just a historical landmark; it is a thriving epicentre of art, culture, and intellectual pursuits. It has been the cradle of numerous iconic poets, writers, musicians, filmmakers, dramatists, social reformers, and scientists who have shaped the city and the nation. The city's legacy is further illuminated by its association with four Nobel laureates, including Rabindranath Tagore, the first non-European to win the Nobel Prize in Literature.

From its bustling markets and colonial architecture to its world-famous cultural festivals such as the Durga Puja, Kolkata embodies a perfect blend of tradition and modernity. It continues to be a source of inspiration, innovation, and resilience, standing tall as a city that celebrates its rich past while embracing the future.

Kolkata is a city of rich culture, art, and heritage, blending old-world charm with vibrant traditions. College Street, Asia's largest book market, and the world-renowned International Kolkata Book Fair held every winter highlight its literary love. The city is also home to Tollywood, eastern India's thriving film industry. Its architectural marvels, like the iconic Howrah Bridge, the majestic Victoria Memorial, and the colonial-era Indian Museum, showcase a blend of British and Indian styles, while the bustling potters' quarter of Kumortuli mesmerises visitors with its exquisite clay idols, especially for Durga Puja, exported worldwide.

Kolkata's metro railway system has significantly expanded since its inception in 1984 with Line 1, the North-South or Blue Line, which runs from Kavi Subhash in the south to Dakshineswar in the north, serving as a vital artery for daily commuters.

The East-West or Green Line is a groundbreaking project connecting Salt Lake to Howrah, featuring India's first underwater metro section beneath the Hooghly River. This line began commercial services on March 15, 2024, enhancing connectivity between key urban centres.

The Purple Line aims to link Joka and Esplanade. A partial service operates between Joka and Majerhat.

The Orange Line is designed to connect New Garia (Kavi Subhash) to Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose International Airport, facilitating seamless transit from the southern fringes to the airport. This line's Kavi Subhash-Hemanta Mukhopadhyay section was inaugurated on March 6, 2024, with further extensions underway.

These expansions and upgrades underscore Kolkata's commitment to developing a modern, efficient, and comprehensive metro system integral to the city's urban landscape and daily life.

Kolkata's skyline features numerous flyovers that enhance urban mobility. Among them, the Sampri Flyover, also known as the Batanagar Flyover, is the longest, stretching approximately 6.8 km and connecting Batanagar with Jinjira Bazar. The Maa Flyover, inaugurated in 2015, spans about 7.5 km and links the Eastern Metropolitan Bypass to the Park Circus 7-point crossing. Its seamless integration with the A.J.C. Bose Road Flyover provides an uninterrupted corridor from the EM Bypass to central Kolkata. Another notable structure is the Vidyasagar Setu, or the Second Hooghly Bridge, the longest cable-stayed bridge in India. These infrastructural developments reflect Kolkata's commitment to modernisation and improving urban connectivity.

Kolkata attracts thousands of visitors every year with its rich cultural heritage. The best time to experience the city's energy is from October to March. In October, Kolkata comes alive with Durga Puja, Bengal's biggest festival. For five days, the city is lit up with beautiful lights and decorated pandals, creating a magical atmosphere.

The Maidan is the heart of Kolkata, often called the city's lungs due to its vast greenery. This expansive park is home to the famous Eden Gardens cricket stadium and football fields where top teams play. At the southern end, you'll find the majestic Victoria Memorial and the Royal Calcutta Turf Club, adding to the area's charm. Fort William, the headquarters of the Indian Army's Eastern Command, stands proudly as a protector of this vibrant space. To the north, explore the old-world charm of narrow lanes and historic buildings in areas like Bagbazar, Burrabazar, and College Street, where the city's rich past comes alive.

South Kolkata offers a peaceful retreat with its green parks, cosy restaurants, and modern facilities, providing a calm escape from the busy north. Upscale areas like Ballygunge, Alipore, and Jodhpur Park show a different side of the city's charm, inviting you to explore its beauty.

Kolkata is the perfect destination for food lovers seeking delicious street food and affordable treats. The city is famous for its wide variety of street food, sweets, and snacks, offering a tasty experience for all tastes. From classic Bengali sweets to spicy chaats, Kolkata's street food scene is a treat for food enthusiasts.

While Park Street's iconic restaurant belt still holds a special place, the city's love for food has spread to many other neighbourhoods. Restaurants and bars are now found all over, reflecting Kolkatans' passion for great food.

Explore B.B.D. Bagh, once Dalhousie Square, a historic hub of British colonial administration that now serves as a bustling business district with iconic colonial architecture. Salt Lake's Sector V has evolved into Kolkata's IT and business hub, home to numerous tech companies and start-ups. Meanwhile, New Town has become a well-planned satellite city and a "Smart Green City," recognised for sustainable infrastructure and modern amenities.

In Kolkata, witness the fusion of old-world charm and modern innovation, especially in Rajarhat, New Town. This growing district, home to an IT hub and impressive housing complexes, showcases the city's architectural and technological progress. Beyond the buildings, New Town offers a vibrant ecosystem with bike rentals, dedicated cycling paths, and electric buses.

Kolkata's public transportation system is a unique mix, featuring classic hand-pulled rickshaws, iconic yellow taxis, and the famous trams. You can also explore the city through electric buses and river ferries, each adding its own character to the urban experience. In the midst of busy tea shops and the grandeur of Durga Puja, Kolkata's spirit comes to life.

Kolkata stands out for its perfect blend of tradition and modernity, offering a unique experience that invites you to explore its constantly changing landscape. In this lively city, every street tells a story of taste and creativity, urging you to enjoy its culinary delights and witness the growth of its business scene.

Arriving in Kolkata:

By Air: Fly into Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose International Airport in Dum Dum, just 17 km from the heart of B.B.D Bagh.

By Rail: Howrah and Sealdah railway stations connect Kolkata to all corners of the country. Additional stations like Santragachi, Shalimar and Kolkata station offer convenient access.

By Road: Navigate through National Highways 2, 6, 34, and 117, seamlessly linking Kolkata to the entire nation.

The Metro - Pulse of Kolkata

The Kolkata Metro has transformed public transport in the city, offering fast, affordable, and air-conditioned connectivity across key regions. With multiple lines expanding rapidly, the metro network is now a critical backbone for both locals and visitors navigating the bustling metropolis.

Blue Line (North-South Metro) Line 1

Status: Fully Operational

Route: Dakshineswar to Kavi Subhash (New Garia), Length: 27.22 km, Stations: 26
India's very first metro line, inaugurated in 1984, continues to be the busiest and most iconic. Running from the spiritual town of Dakshineswar in the north to the southern residential hub of New Garia, the Blue Line connects major areas like Shyambazar, Central, Rabindra Sadan, and Tollygunge.

Green Line (East-West Metro) Line 2

Status: Partially Operational

Route: Salt Lake Sector V to Howrah Maidan, Operational Sections: Sector V - Sealdah and Esplanade – Howrah Maidan
Length: 22 km (Operational), 32.11 km (Full Plan)
Stations: 12 (6 Underground, 6 Elevated)

This modern corridor features India's first underwater metro tunnel, connecting Howrah to Esplanade under the Hooghly River. The line links two major railway terminals - Howrah and Sealdah - making it a critical east-west artery.

Purple Line (Joka-Esplanade Metro) Line 3

Status: Partially Operational

Route: Joka to Majerhat (Operational)
Extension to Esplanade under construction, Length: 15.08 km

Future Extension: 3.39 km to Diamond Park
The Purple Line serves the southern suburbs and is designed to run parallel to Line 1 between Park Street and Esplanade. The operational stretch from Joka to Majerhat includes key residential and institutional zones. Full integration with Line 1 and Line 2 at Esplanade is in progress, enhancing cross-line mobility.

Orange Line (New Garia - Airport Metro)

Status: Partially Operational

Route: Kavi Subhash (New Garia) to Hemanta Mukhopadhyay (Ruby Crossing), Planned Extension: Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose International Airport via Salt Lake and New Town

Length: 29.87 km (Planned)

Strategically linking southern Kolkata with the eastern IT and commercial belt of Salt Lake and New Town and ultimately the airport, this line is vital for seamless transit. As of mid-2025, the operational section ends at Hemanta Mukhopadhyay, with further stretches toward Teghoria and the airport expected to open in 2026.

Festivals & Events

Raksha Bandhan (9th August 2025)

Raksha Bandhan, also known as Rakhi Purnima, celebrates the sacred bond between brothers and sisters. The word "Raksha Bandhan" means 'bond of protection'. On this day, sisters tie a rakhi (sacred thread) on their brothers' wrists, praying for their long life and well-being. In return, brothers vow to protect their sisters and often offer gifts.

In Bengal, this festival also resonates with Rabindranath Tagore's vision of communal harmony, as he encouraged people from all communities to tie rakhis as a symbol of unity during the partition of Bengal in 1905.

Travel Tip: Local sweet shops offer special Rakhi-themed boxes, and gift stores stock unique hampers - perfect if you're visiting or shopping for loved ones.

Independence Day (15th August 2025)

Independence Day is celebrated across India on 15th August, marking the country's freedom from British rule in 1947. In Kolkata, the day is observed with solemn respect, patriotic fervour, and flag-hoisting ceremonies.

The main event takes place at Red Road, where the Governor of West Bengal hoists the national flag and delivers a speech. Police and armed forces showcase march-pasts and cultural tableaux, highlighting Bengal's achievements and diversity. Various schools, clubs, and communities participate in singing the national anthem, patriotic songs, and hosting debates, exhibitions, and art contests.

Several city landmarks, including Victoria Memorial, Howrah Railway Station, and Howrah Bridge, are illuminated in tricolour lighting for the occasion.

Travel Tip: If you're in the city on this day, head to Red Road or Maidan early in the morning to witness the grandeur of official celebrations.

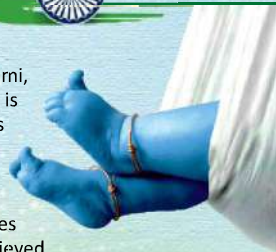

Janmashtami (16th August 2025)

Janmashtami, also known as Krishna Janmashtami or Gokulashtami, marks the birth of Lord Krishna, the eighth avatar of Vishnu. It is one of the most significant Vaishnav festivals in India and is celebrated with great devotion in Kolkata and across Bengal.

Temples like ISKCON Mayapur, ISKCON Kolkata (Albert Road), and Birla Mandir, Ballygunj organize elaborate midnight pujas, bhajans, and dramatic re-enactments of Lord Krishna's life. Devotees observe fasts throughout the day, breaking it at midnight - the believed time of Krishna's birth.

In some areas of Kolkata, the tradition of Dahi Handi - breaking a pot of curd hung at a height - symbolises Krishna's childhood pranks and is celebrated with team events and music.

Travel Tip: Visit ISKCON Kolkata on Janmashtami evening to enjoy the most extravagant celebrations, complete with flower-decked altars, cultural performances, devotional music, and prasadam.

Durga Puja (28th September - 2nd October 2025)

Durga Puja is the biggest and most vibrant festival of West Bengal, celebrated with unmatched grandeur and devotion. In 2021, UNESCO inscribed Kolkata's Durga Puja on its Intangible Cultural Heritage List, recognising it as a spectacular blend of artistic excellence, spiritual fervour, and community participation.

According to Hindu mythology, the three supreme deities - Brahma, Vishnu, and Shiva-combined their divine energies to create Goddess Durga, empowering her to defeat the demon Mahishasura, who had threatened peace on earth. After a fierce battle lasting ten days, Durga finally slayed Mahishasura on the tenth day. This day is celebrated as Vijaya Dashami or Dussehra, symbolising the triumph of good over evil.

Durga Puja in Kolkata is much more than a religious event - it's a five-day cultural phenomenon that transforms the city into a glowing canvas of creativity. From Mahalaya (21st September), which marks the beginning of Devi Paksha, the countdown begins. On this day, the spirit of Goddess Durga is believed to descend into the earth, and the iconic recitation of Mahishasura-mardini fills homes and airwaves across Bengal.

The festivities officially begin on Shashthi (28th September), when the idol unveiling or Bodhon takes place. Over the next four days - Saptami, Ashtami, Navami, and Dashami - the city celebrates with elaborate rituals, cultural performances, food festivals, and all-night pandal hopping.

Kolkata's neighborhoods and clubs create art installations and themed pandals, often addressing social issues or recreating historical sites. Idols of Goddess Durga are created by skilled artisans in Kumartuli, and each year brings new trends in decoration, lighting, and eco-friendly materials.

Durga is always depicted with ten arms carrying various weapons, riding a lion, and slaying Mahishasura. The beating of the dhaak, smell of incense, and the sound of conch shells create a sensory atmosphere that defines Puja days.

Rituals and Traditions :

Ashtami: Devotees offer Pushpanjali and participate in the Kumari Puja, where young girls symbolising the Goddess are worshipped.

Navami: The final day of rituals includes the grand Sandhi Puja and Aarti performances.

Dashami: Devotees bid farewell to the Goddess during Visarjan, as the idols are immersed in the river. Married women participate in Sindoor Khela, applying vermilion to each other in a joyous celebration of feminine energy.

While Bengal celebrates Durga Puja, the rest of India marks Dussehra on the same day, symbolising Lord Rama's victory over Ravana. In many places, large effigies of Ravana are burnt to commemorate the event.

Travel Tips for Tourists : Visit iconic pandals in North and South Kolkata. Explore nighttime pandal hopping between 9 PM and 3 AM - Kolkata never sleeps during Puja. Don't miss tasting local delicacies like khichuri, labra, mishti doi, and festive bhogs served at community pandals. Use public transport like metro or app cabs for smooth travel - roads are often closed for pedestrian use. Durga Puja is not just a celebration - it's Kolkata's soul in its most expressive form. To experience the city at its peak energy and creativity, there's no better time to visit.

Diwali (18th to - 21st October 2025)

Diwali celebrations have become an integral part of Indian culture. Diwali is the Festival of Lights. It is celebrated nationwide and is known as the festival that brings people closer together. The festival of Diwali is believed to be the ultimate victory of good over evil. The lighting of diyas and lamps is seen as the eradication of darkness as we move towards a bright and hopeful future. Diwali is celebrated with fireworks, diyas, decorations and sweets and people exchange sweets.

The festival of Diwali holds great importance in Hindu tradition. On this day, Lord Rama returned to Ayodhya with his wife Sita and brother Laxmana after spending 14 years in exile and defeating the evil King Ravana. It is said that the people of Ayodhya organized a grand ceremony on their triumphant return. The whole kingdom was lit up with bright lamps, diyas and fireworks. Lord Rama was welcomed grandly, and this is how the festival of Diwali came into existence.

In some parts of India, Diwali is celebrated as the victory of Lord Krishna over the wicked demon Narakasura. Diwali is celebrated over three days, where certain rituals and traditions signify each day.

On (18th October) the first day, known as Dhanteras, people buy gold, jewellery and metal utensils. People try to clean and paint their houses before the festival. Diyas are placed inside and outside the house; doorways are decorated and beautiful Rangolis are made on the floors.

The second day of Diwali, known as Choti Diwali, is Naraka Chaturdashi. The celebrations on this day indicate a sense of freedom from all kinds of suffering. A wide variety of sweets are prepared and distributed among relatives and friends.

The festival's third day is known as the main day of Diwali, also known as Lakshmi Puja. Devotees welcome Goddess Lakshmi into their homes. They worship her and ask for her blessings. This is a day of celebration and joy as people burst crackers and meet up with their relatives and close friends.

May the divine light of Diwali drive away all the darkness and bring peace, happiness and prosperity in your life.

Kali Puja (20th October 2025)

Kali Puja, the ritualistic night worship of Goddess Kali, is one of Bengal's most powerful and visually intense festivals. While the rest of India celebrates Diwali by worshipping Goddess Lakshmi, Bengal honors the fierce and protective form of the Divine Mother - Goddess Kali - who represents destruction of evil, time, and ego. The festival falls on Amavasya (New Moon) during the Hindu month of Kartik and coincides with the nationwide celebration of Diwali. The tradition is believed to have gained popularity in Bengal under the influence of King Krishnachandra of Nadia in the 18th century and later by the saint-philosopher Ramakrishna Paramahansa, who emphasized the deep spiritual significance of Kali as the Divine Mother who liberates devotees from fear and ignorance.

On this dark night, Kolkata is bathed in flickering oil lamps, dazzling lights, and fireworks. Temples, homes, and streets are decorated with vibrant rangoli and thematic lighting. Artisans across Bengal prepare grand clay idols of Kali - dark-skinned, garlanded with skulls, standing atop a subdued Shiva - portraying the goddess in all her fearsome glory. Devotees fast, chant mantras, and perform rituals late into the night, seeking protection, justice, and inner strength. Offerings of hibiscus flowers, sweets, rice, and meat are made to her goddess. Two of the most important pilgrimage destinations for Kali worship in Kolkata are the Dakshineswar Kali Temple and the Kalighat Temple, both attracting thousands of visitors during this time.

Bhai Phonta (23rd October 2025)

Celebrated two days after Kali Puja, Bhai Phonta (or Bhai Dooj in other parts of India) is a heartwarming festival that honours the bond between brothers and sisters. On this day, sisters invite their brothers home and apply a ceremonial 'phonta' (tilak) on their foreheads while chanting mantras for their protection and well-being. In return, brothers pledge to protect their sisters throughout life, and gifts are exchanged. Bhai Phonta is a joyful and intimate occasion, marked by laughter, food, and family traditions. Each Bengali household has its unique way of celebrating - some prepare lavish meals for their brothers, while others organize group gatherings. The celebration is deeply rooted in affection and tradition, and is especially significant for those living far from home, as it brings an opportunity for reunion and bonding.

Jagadhatri Puja (31st October 2025)

Jagadhatri Puja is one of the important festivals celebrated after Durga Puja, Lakshmi Puja, and Kali Puja in the month of Kartik. Devotees worship and celebrate the reincarnation of Goddess Durga in the form of Jagadhatri, creating a splendid ambience with high festive spirits.

Jagadhatri is considered another name for Durga. In Sanskrit, Bengali, and Assamese, the word 'Jagadhatri' literally means 'Holder (dhatri) of the World (Jagat)'. The cult of Goddess Jagadhatri is directly derived from Tantra, where she symbolizes sattva, alongside Durga and Kali, who represent rajas and tamas respectively - all three being the basic components of Hindu philosophy.

Two cities famous for worshipping this Goddess are Krishnanagar in Nadia District and Chandannagar in Hooghly District. This Puja is renowned for its lighting displays, with many people flocking to see Chandannagar's pandals for their spectacular illuminations. Krishnanagar holds special historical significance in the advent of Jagadhatri Puja.

In Krishnanagar, it's a one-day celebration, while in Chandannagar, it's a four-day festival similar to Durga Puja. According to legend, Krishnachandra Ray, the raja of Krishnanagar, introduced the public worship of Goddess Jagadhatri.

The Puja is popularly called the reincarnation of Goddess Durga, meant to destroy evil and bring peace. The idol of the Goddess is beautifully adorned in red clothes and ornaments, and garlanded. Jagadhatri Puja is celebrated splendidly on the ninth day of the moonlit fortnight in the month of Kartik. On the tenth day, Dashami, all the idols are carried throughout the town in a grand procession.

Rash Yatra (5th November 2025)

Rash Yatra is dedicated to the divine love of Shri Krishna and Radha. Rash is the union of Jivatma with Paramatma. Rash Yatra has a long tradition in Bengal and the festival is famous in Nabadwip, Shantipur, Cooch Behar and the Sundarbans. Various processions mark the most important day of the festival, which is the Purnima or full moon day in Kartik month and is also known as Rash Purnima.

Today, especially at Nabadwip, the festival has changed its character. People worship various gods during the occasion, including Krishna, Radha, Goddess Kali, Durga, Ganesha and even Sai Baba. The festival here is also called Pat Purnima, Rash Kali Puja and Shakta Rash.

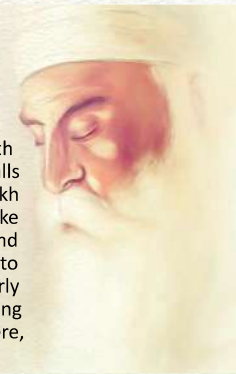

Shantipur is a three-day festival where you will find pandals, lights and idols of various Goddesses like Radha Krishna, Kali, Kamal Kamini, Maa Santoshi etc. On the final day of the Rash Yatra, all of them are taken out in a grand procession around the city accompanied by drums, kirtan and other celebrations. Visitors can best experience the festival by joining the evening processions and enjoying the traditional sweets like Rasgulla and Sandesh sold at local stalls. For an authentic experience, try to arrive before sunset to witness the lighting of the lamps.

The Rash Yatra of Coochbehar is also popular. Rashmela is mainly celebrated in Coochbehar town. The month-long fair is one of the most important fairs in this region.

Guru Nanak Jayanti (5th November 2025)

Guru Nanak Jayanti, also called GURPURAB, marks the birth anniversary of Guru Nanak Dev Ji, the founder of Sikhism. It falls on the full moon day of Kartik month and is observed by Sikh communities across the world. In Kolkata, Gurudwaras in places like Burrabazar and Bagbazar host Akhand Path, special prayers, Kirtan, and Langar (community meals) open to all. Devotees come together to reflect on Guru Nanak's teachings of unity, service, and humility. Early morning processions, or Prabhat Pheris, and Nagar Kirtans featuring music, flags, and decorated floats add to the spiritual atmosphere, making this a soulful celebration of peace and harmony.

Lord Parshwanath Shoba Yatra (5th November 2025)

Held annually in Kolkata, the Shoba Yatra in honour of Lord Parshwanath is a vibrant procession observed by the Jain community. This traditional yatra is believed to have begun in 1831 and continues to draw large gatherings in devotion. With elaborately decorated raths (chariots), devotional singing, and participation from all age groups, the event reflects the strong cultural roots of Jain heritage in the city.

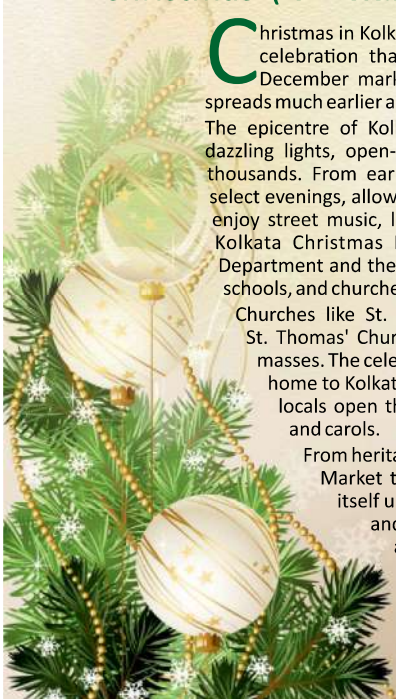

Christmas (25th December 2025)

Christmas in Kolkata is not just a religious festival - it's a grand cultural celebration that lights up the city every December. While 25th December marks the birth of Jesus Christ, the spirit of Christmas spreads much earlier and continues till New Year's Day.

The epicentre of Kolkata's Christmas celebration is Park Street, where dazzling lights, open-air music performances, and food festivals attract thousands. From early December, Park Street turns pedestrian-only on select evenings, allowing visitors to walk through the glittering avenue and enjoy street music, live bands, and Christmas-themed installations. The Kolkata Christmas Festival, organised by the West Bengal Tourism Department and the Archdiocese of Kolkata, brings together local choirs, schools, and churches to celebrate the season in unity.

Churches like St. Paul's Cathedral, St. John's Church, and St. Thomas' Church host special services and midnight masses. The celebrations also extend to Bow Barracks, home to Kolkata's Anglo-Indian community, where locals open their homes to share festive treats and carols.

From heritage bakeries like Nahoum's in New Market to five-star hotels, the city decks itself up with festive menus, plum cakes, and décor. New Town and Salt Lake also organize Christmas carnivals and flea markets, making them must-visits for families and couples alike.

Ghats of Heritage

Kolkata's ghats, wide flights of stairs on the Hooghly River's banks or sometimes jetties are part of the heritage of a city born as an entrepot attracting rival colonial powers to Bengal via the river. Today, Hindus mostly use the ghats to bathe in the holy river, take home its water for puja, offer special prayers and perform rituals. Some ghats are jetties for ferry services and one of them, Man O'War Jetty, was built by the British rulers to serve the needs of Fort William. Many rituals of Hindus are bound to the Ganga River of which the Hooghly is a distributary. The Port Commissioner is in charge of the 42 ghats that dot the banks of the Hooghly. The state government has developed two ghats for performing and viewing the Ganga Aarti, a tribute to the Ganga River. To watch the aarti, many flock to the two ghats, Baje Kadamtala Ghat in Kolkata and Ramkrishnapur Ghat in Howrah.

Baje Kadamtala Ghat

Baje Kadamtala Ghat, which hosts the immersion ceremony of the Durga Puja takes place every year, has been developed as one of the points to perform and watch the Ganga Aarti, similar to the one at Varanasi in Uttar Pradesh. West Bengal's Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee inaugurated the Ganga Aarti at Kadamtala on 12th January 2023. The government has built a viewing gallery at the ghat. People flock to the ghat to watch the spectacular sandhya aarti. Tourists can book a seat on the MV Chitrarekha for Rs 100 to watch the ceremony from the river. The launch, operated by West Bengal Tourism, sails from the Babughat tourism jetty.

Ramkrishnapur Ghat Howrah

The Ramkrishnapur ghat is also famous for the Ganga Aarti. The Ramkrishnapur Ghat aarti is not as elaborate as those at Dashashwamedh Ghat in Varanasi or the Har Ki Pauri in Haridwar but exudes the same energy. During the aarti, a large number of people turn up to experience the spiritual vibe of the place. People looking for a break from the hectic city life and to spend a rejuvenating evening head to the serene Ramkrishnapur Ghat and witness the Ganga Aarti there. Regular ferry service is available from the ghat to Howrah and Chandpal Ghat.

Ahiritola Ghat

Ahiritola Ghat gets its name from milkmen, usually from the Ahir caste, who used to bring their cows and buffaloes to this ghat to bathe them. Today, this ghat is used for immersion during various Hindu festivals and also offers ferry services to Bandha Ghat, Bagbazar and Howrah Station.

Annapurna Ghat

Annapurna Ghat was originally called Raghu Mitter's Ghat and is now known as Bagbazar Ghat. The jetty next to it is for ferry services to Ratanabur Ghat, Kutighat (Baranagar), Belur, Dakshineswar, Ariadaha, Uttarpara and Howrah.

Armenian Ghat

This ghat is named after the Armenians, one of the first foreign settlers in Kolkata. It was built in 1734 by a trader of Armenian origin. Armenian merchants are said to have come to India long before the first British landed in India. Armenian Ghat is known for its beautifully designed iron structure. There are also a few ferries that can take people across the river to Howrah side.

Babu Ghat

Babu Ghat or Baboo Ghat, is one of the oldest river ghats in Kolkata. It was built in memory of Babu Raj Chandra Das by his wife, Rani Rashmoni in 1830. The entrance of the ghat has been built in Doric-Greek architecture. Today, Babu Ghat has become a terminus for long-distance buses, vendors and passengers crossing the Hooghly River to reach Howrah station. A few ferries also take people across the river to Howrah.

Bagbazar Maa-er Ghat

Raja Radhakanta Deb constructed Bagbazar Maa-er Ghat in memory of his grandfather Raja Nabakrishna Deb founder of the Shovabazar Raj family in the 18th Century. People use it to bathe in the river and take home water from the holy river.

Chandpal Ghat

Chandpal Ghat is famous in history as the ghat where Sir Philip Francis and his fellow councillors disembarked in 1774 to rule Britain's possessions with Governor General Sir Warren Hastings. Chandpal Ghat became the gateway of British India. It is named after a shopkeeper, Chandranath Paul, who had a shop at this ghat. Paul was a petty shopkeeper, unlike the rich or famous men after whom many other ghats were named. Today, Chandpal Ghat is one of the tourist attractions in Kolkata.

Jagannath Ghat

Jagannath Ghat, earlier named Shobharam Basak's Ghat has a European touch that allures every visitor. Jagannath Ghat is a hangout as well as a market place. People can enjoy the scenic vistas of Hooghly River.

Kashi Mitra Ghat

Kashi Mitra Ghat and crematorium are named after the merchant Kashinath Mitra, who built the ghat in the 1770s, making it Calcutta's first dedicated burning ghat. Among the famous cremations at this ghat were those of Ramakrishna Paramhansa, his disciple Swami Abhedananda and theatre legend Sisir Bhaduri.

Kumortuli Ghat

One of Kolkata's most famous spots is the 'idol-makers' neighbourhood of Kumortuli. The word tuli comes from tola or neighbourhood. The kumar or kumor were the potters and idol makers who used clay for their work. The ghat of this 'para' is where sculptors would receive the boats carrying their raw materials – earth, clay and sometimes bamboo straws.

Mallick Ghat

The famous 130-year-old Mallick Ghat is situated under the iconic Howrah Bridge, giving it another beauty. With the largest wholesale flower market in Kolkata and one of the biggest in Asia, Mallick Ghat is another charm of itself. This ghat is also called the Chotulal Ghat, which once had a grand pavilion, including an impressive dome.

Nimtala Ghat

The Nimtala Ghat Street is named after Nimtala Burning Ghat or Nimtala Crematorium, which was set up in 1857. The Nobel laureate and the famous Indian poet Late Rabindranath Tagore was cremated here. Nimtala Ghat is also famous for its always-busy Baba Bhootnath Dham Temple.

Outram Ghat

Outram Ghat is one of Kolkata's most preferred, silent, sober riverside entertainment spots. The ghat was built in the late 19th Century in memory of Sir James Outram, who began his extraordinary career as a foot soldier in the British East India Company in 1819 and rose to become a general. The ghat was important for ships sailing from Calcutta to East Bengal and Burma.

Prinsep Ghat

Prinsep Ghat is perhaps the most popular ghat in Kolkata. The ghat was built in 1843 in memory of the Anglo-Indian scholar James Prinsep, founding editor of The Journal of the Asiatic Society of Bengal. It has a monument which has Greek and Gothic architecture. Aside from the magnificent monument, the ghat is popular because of the view of the river, the sunset and the Vidyasagar Setu. There is also a walking path, shaded by trees on both sides that follow the river bank. Prinsep Ghat also has a railway station, part of the Circular Railway.

Ferry Services

The main ghats in Kolkata which have daily ferry service include Chandpal Ghat, Shipping Corporation Ghat, Fairlie Place Ghat, Armenian Ghat, Ahiritola Ghat, Shovabazar Ghat, Bagbazar Ghat. The main ghats in Howrah for the ferry service are Howrah Station Ghat, Golabari Ghat, Bandha Ghat and Ramkrishnapur Ghat.

Popular Book Market & Stores

College Street Book Market

College Street is the largest book market in India as well as Asia and the largest second hand book market in the whole world.

Imagine a street overflowing with books. Not like, a couple of bookstores, but like, books spilling out of every nook and cranny, tumbling from makeshift stalls to grand old shops, a kaleidoscope of spines and faded paperbacks stretching for what feels like forever. That's College Street in Kolkata, aka Boi Para (Book Colony), and it's basically Bookworm Nirvana. Whether you're a book dragon hoarding first editions or a casual reader just craving a good story, Boi Para's got your fix. Think dusty academic tomes crammed next to shiny new bestsellers, Bengali classics cozied up to international mysteries, graphic novels chilling with poetry collections – it's a literary buffet that never ends.

And it's not just about the books. The whole street thrumming with energy – students haggling over textbooks, booksellers rattling off recommendations, the air thick with the smell of old paper.

So, ditch the fancy bookstores and overpriced lattes and come with comfy shoes and a healthy dose of bargaining spirit. Be prepared to get a little lost in the literary labyrinth.

Shopping in Kolkata

Discover the Ultimate Shopping Experience

Kolkata isn't just a city of heritage buildings, political debates, and iconic street food - it's also a vibrant paradise for shoppers. Whether you're on the hunt for handwoven sarees, quirky street jewellery, antique furniture, or rare books, the city's markets and boutiques invite you to explore a shopping experience that is equal parts adventure and nostalgia. Here, shopping isn't just a transaction - it's a conversation, a discovery, and often, a performance.

The charm of shopping in Kolkata lies in its beautiful contradiction - where air-conditioned malls coexist with chaotic bazaars, and luxury designer boutiques sit just a lane away from street vendors selling embroidered juttis or second-hand novels. From the glass-fronted stores of South City Mall to the bustling lanes of New Market and College Street, the city offers a curious mix of the modern and the nostalgic. The city doesn't rush you. Instead, it tempts you to slow down, haggle a little, sip on a cup of roadside cha, and wander through narrow lanes where every turn opens up a new world of textiles, spices, or surprises.

It's also a deeply sensory experience. You'll hear the sing-song of sellers calling out their wares, feel the textures of rich silk or crisp cotton, see stacks of vibrant fabrics, and smell the heady mix of incense, leather, and freshly roasted peanuts. In Kumartuli, even shopping for clay idols can turn into a masterclass in craftsmanship. In Shyambazar, a hunt for affordable sarees might lead you to an old shop where fabrics are still hand-dyed in the backyard.

You might walk into a shop for one item and walk out with ten, simply because "didi, ekbaar dekhe to jaan" (just take a look once) turned into a full-blown shopping spree.

Planning your wedding in Kolkata? Get ready for a shopping experience that's as grand and vibrant as the celebration itself. The city is a treasure trove of bridal essentials- start with Gariahat or Burrabazar for handwoven Benarasi sarees, a must-have for any Bengali bride. Explore boutique stores in Elgin Road and Park Street for designer lehengas, cocktail outfits, and stylish fusion wear. Grooms can head to New Market or Shyambazar for custom-made sherwanis, bandhgallas, and suits stitched by seasoned local tailors. From bridal jewellery to embroidered juttis, bangles to dupattas, you'll find everything to complete your look - and that of your entire entourage. Wedding shopping here isn't just efficient; it's full of warmth, tradition, and little moments - like sharing a plate of phuchka between fittings or a chai break after bargaining for the perfect dupatta. In Kolkata, wedding shopping becomes a memory in itself.

Shopping in Kolkata is also a social activity. Locals often go market-hopping with friends or family, especially before Durga Puja or wedding season. For many, it's not just about buying things - it's about making memories. Weekends at Gariahat or Hatibagan feel like community gatherings, with spirited bargaining, street food breaks, and lively conversations. For travellers, joining this local rhythm adds a whole new layer to experiencing the city- not just as a tourist, but as a participant in its living, breathing culture.

Experience the Magic of Weddings in Kolkata

Kolkata - often called the cultural capital of India - is more than just a city. It is a canvas of age-old traditions, colonial-era architecture, and contemporary charm. As the wedding season sets in, Kolkata transforms into a vibrant celebration of love, rituals, and togetherness. From the grandeur of North Kolkata's heritage mansions to the modern elegance of five-star hotels and themed banquet spaces in the city's posh localities, the City of Joy offers a wedding experience like no other.

A City Made for Celebrations

What makes Kolkata truly special for weddings is the perfect blend of cultural richness and hospitality. Bengali weddings are known for their emotional depth, elaborate rituals, and artistic detailing - from the 'shubho drishti' moment to the 'phool shojja' night. But beyond Bengali traditions, the city also beautifully accommodates multicultural ceremonies - be it Marwari, Punjabi, South Indian, or even destination-style weddings with global themes.

From sprawling garden venues in Rajarhat and New Town to opulent banquet halls in Park Street and Ballygunge, the venue choices are as diverse as the city itself. Many of these venues offer all-inclusive packages, covering everything from décor and catering to accommodation and logistics.

World-Class Wedding Services

Kolkata has seen a booming growth in wedding-related services over the past few years. Renowned wedding planners in the city now offer everything from themed weddings, custom-designed invitations, and exotic pre-wedding shoot locations to traditional musical troupes and curated wedding favors. Local florists, decorators, and lighting experts are known for their ability to transform spaces into dreamlike settings.

The city is also home to some of the best photographers and cinematographers, who blend storytelling and modern aesthetics to capture timeless memories. Be it the nostalgic bylanes of North Kolkata or the riverside backdrop of Princep Ghat, couples now have access to picturesque pre-wedding shoot locations that add an extra spark to their celebration.

A Shopper's Paradise for Wedding Preparations

Kolkata's shopping scene is every bride and groom's dream. From the high-end bridal showrooms at Elgin Road and Shakespeare Sarani to the vibrant wholesale markets of Burrabazar and Gariahat, the city caters to every style and budget. Brides can explore the finest Benarasi sarees, intricate zardozi lehengas, and handcrafted jewellery that blend heritage with trend. Groom fashion too has seen a rise, with designers offering everything from traditional sherwanis to Indo-western fusion wear.

Not to forget, Kolkata is also a hub for customized wedding accessories, trousseau packing, mehendi artists, and makeup studios that specialize in bridal makeovers. Whether it's last-minute shopping or detailed customization, the city offers it all - conveniently and creatively.

The Warmth of Kolkata Hospitality

Above all, what sets Kolkata apart is its warmth. The city's people, its food, and its culture come together to create a wedding atmosphere that feels intimate yet grand. The hospitality industry - from top-rated hotels to boutique guest houses - ensures that families and guests feel at home during the festivities.

With every wedding, Kolkata adds another layer to its legacy - a mix of joy, tradition, food, music, and love.

This wedding season, let Kolkata be the backdrop to your most cherished memories. With its vibrant spirit and endless possibilities, your dream wedding begins right here.

Discover the Charm of Bengal

The Mountains

Darjeeling - Nestled in the eastern Himalayas, Darjeeling, known as the "Queen of the Hills", offers a perfect escape for nature enthusiasts. With the majestic Mt. Kanchenjunga as the backdrop, this charming town, located 647 km from Kolkata at an altitude of 7042 feet, beckons travelers seeking harmony with nature. Once accessed by the iconic 'Toy Train', now operated as the Darjeeling Himalayan Railway, a UNESCO World Heritage Site, the journey remains an unforgettable experience.

Must-visit attractions include Tiger Hill for breathtaking sunrises, the Ghoom Monastery at 8000 feet, Batasia Loop with its War Memorial, and the Padmaja Naidu Himalayan Zoological Park. For adventure seekers, river rafting in Teesta, trekking Sandakphu's peak and learning mountaineering at the Himalayan Mountaineering Institute are thrilling options. Stroll along Chowrasta on the Mall Road, shop for woolens at Bhutia Market, or even get inked with a tattoo. New Jalpaiguri Junction (100 km) and Bagdogra Airport (90 km) serve as convenient entry points. Darjeeling promises an array of experiences for every traveler.

Kalimpong, at 4,200 feet and just an hour's drive from Darjeeling, Kalimpong is a charming place known for its beautiful flower gardens. Dr. Graham's Homes, a school since 1900, adds a touch of history, and the Tharpa Choling Monastery on the hilltop offers stunning views of the Teesta River and Rangeet Valley. Kalimpong, a quiet Buddhist town with Bhutanese influences, is a delightful destination.

For a less crowded hill station experience, Kalimpong stands out with its Tibetan crafts, Buddhist monasteries, and Bhutanese history. Enjoy activities like visiting Deolo Hill for great views, exploring the Cactus Nursery to see unique flowers, and taking in the scenery from Durpin Dara Hill. Don't miss the Zong Dog Palri Fo Brang Gompa, admire colonial architecture at Crockety, and experience the mysterious Haunted Morgan House.

Discover the past at the Lepcha Heritage Museum, relax at Shanti Kunj amidst greenery, and shop at Haat Bazaar. Durpin Gompa offers a peaceful visit. Whether enjoying the landscapes or immersing yourself in the local culture, Kalimpong promises a delightful escape for those seeking a unique adventure.

Mirik, situated at about 4,900 feet and just around 49 km from Darjeeling, has become a popular spot for tourists due to its nice weather, natural beauty, and easy-to-reach location. One of the main attractions in Mirik is Sumendu Lake, known for its peaceful surroundings and a fountain in the middle. You can enjoy boat rides and horseback adventures while taking in the beautiful scenery, including the reflection of the stunning Kanchenjunga on the lake.

Aside from the lovely lake, Mirik has many other places worth visiting. Explore Bokar Monastery, a calm Buddhist place in Darjeeling with beautiful buildings that make you feel peaceful. Discover how tea is made by exploring Mirik Tea Gardens, where you can walk through green plantations and enjoy the pleasant smell of tea leaves. Devi Stan is a special and quiet place with a spiritual touch, while Rameetay Dhara showcases the graceful flow of water. Step into the colorful world of Orchid, where you can see many different types of beautiful flowers. Mirik invites you to enjoy its natural wonders, providing a perfect mix of relaxation and exploration for all kinds of travelers.

The Dooars are the foothills of the eastern Himalayas and Siliguri serves as the entrance to this scenic region. Known for its natural beauty, the Dooars is a perfect destination, especially during the monsoon season. Here, you'll find lush forests teeming with wildlife, numerous streams flowing through green tea gardens and vast undulating plains.

Jaldapara Wildlife Sanctuary covers an area of 216 sq km and is a mix of woods, grasslands, streams, and sandy river banks. It's home to a variety of plants and animals in different types of forests, grassy areas, and along the riverbanks. Visitors enjoy riding elephants through the Jaldapara forest to spot animals, especially the one-horned rhinos that are the main attraction.

The sanctuary was started in 1941 to protect these rhinos. They also offer vehicle safaris for those who want to explore deeper into the forest. The Torsa River runs through the park, surrounded mostly by tall grass. Jaldapara Wildlife Sanctuary is a great place to experience nature and see incredible wildlife in a beautiful setting.

Gorumara National Park, situated 80 km from Jaldapara, rests along the banks of the rivers Murti and Raidak in the Terai region of Dooars, at the foothills of the eastern Himalayas. Known for its diverse wildlife, including the iconic Asian one-horned rhino, Asian elephants, bison, and vibrant peacocks, Gorumara is a significant national park in northern West Bengal. Established in 1992, the park is recognized for its Indian rhinoceros population. Gorumara National Park earned the distinction of being the best among protected areas in India in 2009, as declared by the Ministry of Environment and Forests. The park provides a unique opportunity to witness a variety of wildlife in a natural and picturesque setting.

Sundarbans Awaits

The Sundarbans, a UNESCO World Heritage Site located about 110 km from Kolkata, is a mesmerizing mangrove forest in West Bengal's South 24 Parganas district. Named after the Sundari tree, its name also means "beautiful forest." The Sundarbans Biosphere Reserve spans 60% in Bangladesh, covering 414,259 hectares of land and 187,413 hectares of water bodies.

Accessing this natural marvel is best done by boat, embarking from Port Canning. West Bengal Tourism offers luxury boat services, and private tour operators provide resorts, hotels, and guest houses. Sajnekhali Tourist Lodge is ideal for those wanting to stay in the core area near the Tiger Project.

Home to the Royal Bengal Tiger, Sundarbans is the world's largest delta formed by the Ganga, Brahmaputra and Meghna rivers.

Sundarbans is a home for around 400 Royal Bengal Tigers residing in the Indian part. Saltwater crocodiles add to the diverse wildlife, making Sundarbans a unique and captivating ecosystem.

With over 400 plant species and 270 bird species, including rare dolphins, Sundarbans is a birdwatcher's and nature enthusiast's paradise. It's also home to the Munda, Santal and Mahato communities, contributing to its rich cultural heritage.

Sun, Sand, and Serenity: Bengal's Beaches

Digha, located 183 km from Kolkata in the East Medinipore district, stands out as the most popular sea beach and tourist spot. Offering a serene escape from the daily hustle and bustle, Digha's calm and shallow waters stretch along a 7 km sandy beach with gentle rolling waves. The beach is known for its captivating sunrise and sunset views, reflecting over the Bay of Bengal's salty waters like scenes from an artist's canvas. Amarabati Park and Kajal Dighi Wonderland add to the charm with popular amusement options.

Connected well by road and rail to Kolkata, Digha is easily accessible for those seeking a seaside retreat. The marine station and aquarium of the Zoological Survey of India showcase diverse marine life. New Digha Beach, a well-planned man-made extension, offers a bigger, less crowded alternative to the old beach, while Udaipur Beach provides a tranquil setting for seaside strolls and bike rides. Shankarpur Beach, with its virgin landscape and nearby temples, offers picturesque moments.

For a leisurely experience, Amarabati Park boasts paved walkways, seating areas, a ropeway ride, and boating facilities around its mini-lake. A visit to the Chandaneswar Shiv Temple, offers a blend of mythology, folklore, and an annual fair on the first day of the Oriya calendar. While the Old Digha Beach is less crowded, it provides a peaceful atmosphere for watching sunsets and sunrises. Chandpur Beach, though less popular, features a beautiful seaside view with clear emerald water, making it an ideal spot to unwind and relax. Digha promises a mix of natural beauty, cultural experiences, and tranquil moments for every traveler.

Mandarmani, situated near Digha, stands as one of the largest and rapidly growing seaside destinations in the region. Known for its impressive 13 km long motorable beach is the longest in India, Mandarmani offers a unique 'drive-in' beach experience. The main attraction, Mandarmani Beach, provides a vast shoreline for leisurely strolls and relaxation along the Bay of Bengal, creating a soothing atmosphere. Additionally, visitors can explore the serene setting of Mandarmani Mohona, where the Hooghly River converges with the Bay of Bengal, adding a tranquil touch to the coastal experience. For those seeking peaceful alternatives, Tajpur Beach beckons with its pristine sands and scenic beauty. Nearby, the Chandaneswar Shiv Temple offers a spiritual ambience and hosts an annual fair. Explore the local fishing harbour at Mandarmani Fishing Harbour to observe traditional boats and the bustling activities of the local fishermen. To delve into history, Dadar Kirti Bari stands as a historical site associated with the renowned Bengali author Upendra Kishore Ray Chowdhury.

Bakkhali, just 125 km from Kolkata, is a well-loved beach in West Bengal. This beach faces south and has a unique crescent shape that lets you enjoy both sunrise and sunset views. It's like a small island reaching into the vast Bay of Bengal, with an 8-km-long beach going from Bakkhali to Fraserganj. Here you can take peaceful walks, sunbathe, and feel the cool sea breeze. Nearby, Henry's Island is a quiet place with a calm beach, mangrove forests, and a tall tower for great views. Explore Fraserganj, a nearby village with a quiet beach and lively fishing community. Other places like Jambu Dwip, Windmill Point, Bishhalakshmi Temple, Bakkhali Watch Tower, Kapurbari, and Fishermen's Cove add more to your visit, giving you a mix of nature, spirituality and local life in this coastal spot.

Tajpur is a hidden gem nestled in the East Medinipur district between Mandarmani and Chandipur beaches. Located just 170 km from Kolkata along the Bay of Bengal's shore, Tajpur offers a peaceful gateway with dense backdrop of trees, inviting beach, and lively presence of red crabs and seagulls. It's great for leisurely walks and sunbathing.

Explore the local fishing harbor to observe traditional fishing activities at Tajpur Fishing Harbour, and during certain times of the year witness the unique phenomenon of red crab migration. For a closer experience with nature, Tajpur Nature Camp offers enjoyable camping amidst the natural surroundings. Don't miss indulging in the region's local seafood delicacies at the beachside snacks and eateries, adding to the overall flavorful experience of Tajpur. The nearest railway station is Digha, with regular train services from Howrah, providing convenient access to this hidden coastal gem.

Jagannath Dham at Digha:

Bengal's New Spiritual and Cultural Landmark

On 30th April, 2025, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee inaugurated the much-awaited Jagannath Temple at Digha now popularly known as Jagannath Dham. Modeled after the legendary Puri shrine in Odisha, the new temple is being seen as both a spiritual gift and a major tourist attraction for the state.

A Grand Structure by the Sea

Built over nearly 20 acres of land, the temple is a stunning example of Kalinga or Nagara style architecture. Rising 65 metres high, the structure mirrors the height of the original Puri temple. The project, executed under HIDCO's supervision, is estimated to have cost between ₹200 and ₹250 crore.

To achieve its grandeur, builders sourced Banshi Hills sandstone from Rajasthan while the interiors were finished with Vietnamese marble. The design was led by Kolkata-based Architecture Studio - Salient, ensuring that every element reflects sacred tradition. The complex is not just limited to the main shrine; it also features the four symbolic gates - Singhadwar, Byaghradwar, Hastidwar, and Ashwadwar. There is a Lakshmi temple, a large kitchen for bhog, rooms for pilgrims, administrative blocks, as well as safety provisions like a police outpost and fire station.

Rituals and Dedication

The consecration took place on Akshaya Tritiya, a date considered auspicious for new beginnings. A Maha Yajna, sacred chants, and the ceremonial flag hoisting marked the temple's opening. Mamata Banerjee declared the temple as "a gift to the people of Bengal," promising that prasad and images of Lord Jagannath would be sent to homes across the state.

A special trust has been formed to oversee the temple, headed by the Chief Secretary, with members from ISKCON, the Sanatan Trust, local priests, and officials.

Boost to Tourism and Local Economy

Within weeks of opening, the shrine became a crowd-puller, reportedly drawing more than 3 million devotees in two months. The temple hosted its first Rath Yatra on June 27, 2025, which brought thousands of pilgrims, including international visitors. This surge has already benefitted local transport and hospitality. For instance, NBSTC's newly introduced Volvo buses from North Bengal to Digha reported record earnings thanks to the rush of visitors.

The Jagannath Temple at Digha has quickly become one of Bengal's most talked-about landmarks. Architecturally grand, spiritually significant, and economically promising, it reflects both devotion and regional pride. At the same time, it highlights how faith and politics continue to intersect in India's public life. Whether viewed as a sacred space, a tourist hub, or a political statement, the temple is undeniably shaping the cultural landscape of West Bengal in 2025.

Experience the Best of Bengal's Towns

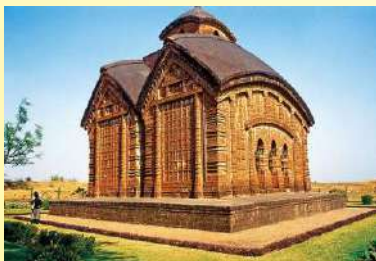

Shantiniketan nestled 212 km away from Kolkata near Bolpur in the Birbhum district, owes its charm to Nobel Laureate Rabindranath Tagore. This town evolved around Visva-Bharati University (established in 1921), now declared as UNESCO World Heritage Site, an enduring aspiration for students, offering both tranquility and education.

Shantiniketan's allure extends beyond academics, with vibrant fairs like Poush Utsav, Joydev Mela, and Basanta Utsav, where tourists revel in folk dances, music, and cultural delights. The town comes alive during these festivals, offering a feast for the senses.

Within Visva-Bharati's grounds, diverse schools and centers of learning thrive. Kala Bhavan, dedicated to visual and fine arts, explores painting, design, sculpture, and graphics. Sangeet Bhavan focuses on folk music, vocal music, dance, and drama, including specialization in Hindustani Classical music and Rabindrasangeet.

Notably, China Bhavan delves into Chinese language, culture, and tradition, while Nippon Bhavan is a dedicated hub for learning and promoting Japanese culture. Shantiniketan, with its rich heritage and cultural tapestry, stands as a testament to Tagore's vision—a harmonious blend of art, education, and diverse traditions.

Bishnupur, a charming temple town just 139 km from Kolkata, is a treasure trove of heritage, culture, and beautiful architecture. With its terracotta craftsmanship and the famous Baluchari silk sarees, Bishnupur is a delight for visitors. Imagine explore the Shyam Rai Temple and the twin shrines of Jorbangla, immersing yourself in the artistic wonders of the Ras mancha.

The town is also renowned for its unique metal craft known as "Dokra & Terracotta." Don't miss the lively Bishnupur Mela, a four-day celebration held in late December, marking the end of the agricultural season. As you wander through Bishnupur, discover more hidden gems like the Madanmohan Temple and the Lalji Temple, both showcasing impressive terracotta work. The Bishnupur Rajbari, a historical mansion, offers a glimpse into the region's royal past. Take a stroll in the peaceful Susunia Hills, providing a scenic retreat.

Purulia, a scenic retreat located 290 km from Kolkata, welcomes tired city folks with its lush greenery, rolling hills, and thick forests. It's a perfect destination to escape the city bustle. Purulia's tourist attractions revolve around its hills, forests, archaeological sites, and the remnants of ancient buildings and temples. The tribal culture adds a special touch to the mystic charm and natural beauty of this region, known for its red soil and the vibrant red flowers of Palash. As you explore Purulia, don't miss the iconic Marble Lake, a serene reservoir surrounded by hills. Visit the Charida Village, famous for its Chhau masks, showcasing the rich local artistry. The Deulghata Temple Complex, showcasing ancient temples, provides a glimpse into the region's historical heritage.

Ayodhya Hills in Purulia is like a go-to spot for young adventurers to start learning rock climbing basics. In Purulia, everyone loves Jhumur songs and dances, creating a lively atmosphere.

The culture here focuses on a traditional folk dance called 'Chau.' This dance, with its beautiful masks, unique dance style, and vibrant costumes, has gained fame around the world. Besides, places like Garhpanchakot, Baghmundi, and Baranti are other popular destinations in Purulia, each offering its own charm. Nature lovers can enjoy a tranquil boat ride on the Baranti Lake or take a stroll through the picturesque Baghmundi. For an authentic taste, savor the local cuisine at Garpanchkot Rajbari.

Cooch Behar, 687 km from Kolkata, is known for its pleasant weather and natural beauty. The highlight is the magnificent palace of Koch king Maharaja Nripendra Narayan, built in 1887 with a touch of European style.

The heart of Cooch Behar holds the significant Madan Mohan Bari temple. Visitors are drawn to the traditional Raas Yatra festival and the lively Raas Mela, making it one of the biggest festivals in North Bengal. Explore beyond the palace – take a leisurely stroll in the beautiful Cooch Behar Park or visit the nearby Sagar Dighi, a large pond surrounded by greenery. Don't miss the chance to experience the local culture at the Banerwar Shiva Temple. For history enthusiasts, the Baradeo archaeological site offers a glimpse into ancient ruins.

Malda, both a district and its main town, is famous for something sweet – its delicious mangoes, earning it the title of Mango City. Often referred to as English Bazar, this name traces back to a factory established by the British in 1680. Beyond its juicy mangoes, Malda has numerous attractions, including the Adina Mosque, Firoz Minar, Qadam Rasul Mosque, and the historic remnants of Ramkila. Explore the Malda Haat, a bustling market where you can shop for local crafts and flavors. Don't miss a serene boat ride on the Ganga River or a visit to the scenic Jhaljhalia. History buffs can delve into the past at the archaeological site of Gour, unveiling the ancient history of the region. For a taste of local life, indulge in Malda's street food, offering a variety of delectable treats.

Jhargram, just 157 km from Kolkata has tropical forests growing on sweet-smelling red soil. It's a treasure trove of aboriginal culture in eastern India, where nature and tradition blend beautifully.

Jhargram carries the echoes of a royal history, evident in the Hindu temples and palaces that dot the landscape. Beyond its historical charm, Jhargram invites you to experience the tranquil vibes of the Chilkigarh Rajbari, an ancient mansion surrounded by nature. The Kankrajhor, a serene lake, offers a peaceful escape, while the deer park adds a touch of wildlife to your visit. Don't miss the chance to explore the ancient temple of Sabitri, sitting atop a hill with panoramic views. Jhargram isn't just a destination; it's an immersion into nature, history, and the rich cultural tapestry of eastern India.

Murshidabad, the capital of Bengal since 1727 under Murshid Quli Khan, holds a fascinating history. However, its fortunes changed after the British triumphed over the last independent Nawab, Siraj-ud-Daulah, in the Battle of Palashi in 1757.

Despite its historical downturn, Murshidabad remains a treasure trove of heritage, with must-visit places like Hazarduari, Imambara, Madina, the Bachchawali Tope, Moti Jheel, and the Katra Mosque. While exploring Murshidabad's history, take a boat ride on the Bhagirathi River for a unique view of the city. Don't miss a stroll through the Murshidabad Silk Heritage Museum to witness the intricate art of silk weaving. The vibrant Khagra Market offers a chance to shop for local crafts and souvenirs. Indulge in the local cuisine, savoring dishes like Murgi Kasha and Misti Pulao. Murshidabad isn't just a chapter in history; it's a living canvas waiting to unfold with its heritage, art, and culinary delights.

Krishnanagar, a historic city located 118 km from Kolkata in Nadia district. Nearby, Nabadwip stands as an ancient seat of Sanskrit learning, claiming significance as the possible birthplace of Shri Chaitanya. The ISKCON temple at Mayapur, dedicated to Shri Chaitanya, is a major crowd-puller, attracting both devotees and tourists alike. Beyond the religious sites, Krishnanagar offers a glimpse into its rich history at places like Krishnanagar Rajbari and the Roman Catholic Church. Explore the beauty of Bethuadahari Wildlife Sanctuary, known for its diverse flora and fauna. Don't miss a leisurely boat ride on the Jalangi River for a serene experience.

Taste of Europe in Bengal

Imagine exploring Europe right here in India! Along the Hooghly River, charming towns like Chandannagar, Chinsurah, Bandel and Serampore hold a unique secret – a blend of European heritage and Bengali culture, fondly nicknamed “Little Europe.” Once upon a time, these towns were colonies of Portugal, Netherlands, France and Denmark. This fascinating history left behind stunning architecture, delicious food and vibrant traditions waiting to be discovered.

Serampore: The Danish Delight

Start your exploration in Serampore, once a thriving Danish colony. Visit the historic Mission Chapel, witness the grandeur of Serampore College (Asia's first university!) and delve into the legacy of missionary William Carey at the William Carey Museum. Don't miss the beauty of St. Olave Church and savor a refreshing drink at the Danish Tavern, immersing yourself in the Danish ambiance. You can also experience the Rath Yatra of Mahesh, the second oldest in the world after Puri Ratha-Yatra.

Chinsurah: The Dutch Legacy

Continue your journey to Chinsurah, where the Dutch influence still echoes through its streets. Marvel at the imposing Armenian Church, explore the remnants of the Old Dutch Fort and admire the architectural splendor of Mohsin College. Take a stroll through the serene Dutch cemetery, where the past whispers tales of bygone eras.

Bandel & Hooghly: Portuguese Colony

Next, pay homage at the iconic Bandel Church, the oldest in Bengal and marvel at the stunning Hooghly Imambara, a testament to architectural brilliance. Explore the historic town of Hooghly and discover its rich cultural heritage, from ancient temples to colonial-era buildings. Don't forget to visit Debanandapur, the birthplace of the eminent writer Sarat Chandra Chattopadhyay and immerse yourself in the literary legacy of Bengal.

Chandannagar: French Bienvenue

Round off your journey in Chandannagar, where French charm meets Bengali hospitality.

Explore the architectural marvels of Patal Bari and the Sacred Heart Church and stroll along the Boulevard-Chandannagore Strand, soaking in the Parisian vibes. Experience the vibrant festivities of Jagaddhatri Puja, where French and Bengali cultures blend seamlessly. Jagaddhatri Pujo Immersion procession with its innovative lightning is the second largest in the world after Rio de Janeiro's, with its magnificent lightings creating a spectacle of lights and colors.

Come, discover the unique blend of East and West, history and modernity, that awaits you in Bengal's hidden gem – “Little Europe.”

Bengal's Famous Arts & Crafts

Terracotta Art: Terracotta is a type of fired clay, typically of a brownish – red colour and unglazed, used as an ornamental building material and in modeling. Terracotta or burnt or baked soil is a tradition that traces its roots to the 8th century. Bishnupur is renowned for its skill in crafting terracotta products.

Clay Art: Clay Art has an indigenous history in West Bengal. Ghurni, Krishnanagar Nadia district of West Bengal is very famous for making the clay idols. The potters are made up of different dolls and other figures.

Shantiketan Leather Craft: The material used is vegetable tanned leather with artwork done by touch dyeing to make bags, decorations, purses, wallets, diaries and footwear. These hand painted leather products are world famous for their appliqué, batik works.

Baluchari: Baluchari Sarees are also known as the landmark of handloom weaving of silk sarees. The fabric of Baluchari saree is very fine and transparent mostly made of Murshidabad silk used with a soft drape.

Patachitra: Patachitra is an art form where stories are painted on scrolls and the artists sing the stories. Patachitra is known for its bold colours, lines and strokes. Natural color is used which is derived from local sources of flowers & fruits. The Patuas paint and sing on various themes like mythological tales (Ramayana, Mahabharata Mangalkabya etc).

Mask: A rich repertoire of masks of gods, heroes from folklore and mythology, birds and animals are seen in mask making tradition of Purulia. The Charida village in Purulia is considered to be the hub of mask village in Bengal.

Jamdani: Jamdani is a fine muslin cloth on which decorative motifs are woven on the loom, typically in grey and white. Often a mixture of cotton and gold thread was used.

Kantha-Stitch: Kantha embroidery is done with two anchor threads and a needle which is one of the most important tools. A popular type of embroidery used in everything from sarees and shawls to bed linen.

Bankura Horse: The traditional symbol of Bengal's craftsmanship and a popular household ornament, the Bankura horse is usually made of terracotta, as well as wood, brass and dokra.

Dokra: Dokra is a tribal metal craft and it is a non-ferrous metal casting using the lost-wax casting technique. Brass is one of the main material and the artefacts are filled with clay. Natural resources such as wax, resin, wood from the forest and riverbed clay are used by the craftsman.

Jute: Jute is a long soft, shiny bast fibre that can be spun into coarse, strong threads. The fibres are also woven into curtains, chair coverings, carpets, area rugs, hessian cloth and backing for linoleum.

Shell Craft: Shell Craft basically refers to the art of engraving beautiful images on natural shells, obtained from the ocean bed. The women of Bengal have conch shell crafts include making items like lamps, incense holders, ashtrays, vermilion containers, spoons and forks from the shells. Cone shells are also used to make jewellery items, like bangles, armlets, rings, lockets, buttons, hairpins and clips.

Shola Craft: Sholapith Artwork or Shola craft or Thermocol Art is a cultural ritual to make delicate milky - white decorative objects most seen in Bankapasi, Mangolkot of Burdwan. It is widely used in Bengal for making attire, ornaments and other decorations of idols.

Filigree: Filigree is an ancient Bengali art form where gold or silver wire is twisted into intricate and ornate shapes, to make jewellery.

Sheetalpati: 'Sheetal' means cool and 'Pati' means mat in Bengali. The cane slips are processed and often dyed in different colours and fine designs are woven. The sleeping or sitting mat is still the main product. Other than this they also make bag, hat, folder, table mats and other home décor items.
